

Echinacea purpurea 'Big Sky Sunrise'

Big Sky Sunrise Coneflower

DESCRIPTION

This is an upright and columnar plant with free branching that typically grows in a clump to 30-36" tall on sturdy stems that do not need staking.

It is noted for its large, sweetly-fragrant coneflowers featuring citron yellow rays and green-maturing-to-orange center cones.

An excellent cut flower that will tolerate periods of drought.

Attracts butterflies and birds.
